

FOOD FOR THE FUTURE!

“Protect our farmland. We’re counting on you!”

FAMILY DAY RALLY

TO SAVE THE

Agricultural Land Reserve

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10TH • 12 NOON

BC LEGISLATURE GROUNDS

www.FarmlandProtection.ca

www.facebook.com/FarmlandProtection

FOOD FOR THE FUTURE!

“Protect our farmland. We’re counting on you!”

FAMILY DAY RALLY

TO SAVE THE

Agricultural Land Reserve

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10TH • 12 NOON

BC LEGISLATURE GROUNDS

www.FarmlandProtection.ca

www.facebook.com/FarmlandProtection

FOOD FOR THE FUTURE!

“Protect our farmland. We’re counting on you!”

FAMILY DAY RALLY

TO SAVE THE

Agricultural Land Reserve

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10TH • 12 NOON

BC LEGISLATURE GROUNDS

www.FarmlandProtection.ca

www.facebook.com/FarmlandProtection

FOOD FOR THE FUTURE!

“Protect our farmland. We’re counting on you!”

FAMILY DAY RALLY

TO SAVE THE

Agricultural Land Reserve

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 10TH • 12 NOON

BC LEGISLATURE GROUNDS

www.FarmlandProtection.ca

www.facebook.com/FarmlandProtection

In 1973, the BC government created the Agricultural Land Commission (ALC), an autonomous Board sworn to protect agricultural land in BC from being developed and lost forever as viable farmland. Only 5% of the total land in all of BC was to be held in the Agricultural Land Reserve (ALR) that legally restricts what the land can be used for. Only with approval from the ALC could land be excluded/removed from the ALR.

The BC government has shown a troubling disregard for the integrity of the Agricultural Land Commission

"A rodeo development supported by B.C. Agriculture Minister Pat Pimm that the provincial Agricultural Land Commission rejected as unacceptable use of valuable farm land has gone ahead without ALC approval."

—THE GLOBE AND MAIL, NOVEMBER 13, 2013

"Premier Christy Clark says she will not be asking Pimm to step aside because he was simply advocating on behalf of a constituent when he pledged his support for the rodeo proposal." —CBC, NOVEMBER 14, 2013

Legislation to DISMANTLE the ALR and END its AUTONOMY may be tabled when the BC Legislature reopens February 2014

"British Columbia's 'sacrosanct' Agricultural Land Commission will be effectively dismantled and the B.C. Oil and Gas Commission will assume new responsibilities for land use decisions if a proposal prepared for cabinet is adopted, according to confidential government documents. ... The ALC — long a thorn in the side of developers who want to free up farmland — would move within the Ministry of Agriculture, apparently ending its autonomy from government." —THE GLOBE AND MAIL, NOVEMBER 7, 2013

ONLY 72 HOURS OF FOOD SUPPLY ON VANCOUVER ISLAND!
JOIN THE FEB. 10TH RALLY AND HELP SAVE THE ALR FOREVER!
www.FarmlandProtection.ca

In 1973, the BC government created the Agricultural Land Commission (ALC), an autonomous Board sworn to protect agricultural land in BC from being developed and lost forever as viable farmland. Only 5% of the total land in all of BC was to be held in the Agricultural Land Reserve (ALR) that legally restricts what the land can be used for. Only with approval from the ALC could land be excluded/removed from the ALR.

The BC government has shown a troubling disregard for the integrity of the Agricultural Land Commission

"A rodeo development supported by B.C. Agriculture Minister Pat Pimm that the provincial Agricultural Land Commission rejected as unacceptable use of valuable farm land has gone ahead without ALC approval."

—THE GLOBE AND MAIL, NOVEMBER 13, 2013

"Premier Christy Clark says she will not be asking Pimm to step aside because he was simply advocating on behalf of a constituent when he pledged his support for the rodeo proposal." —CBC, NOVEMBER 14, 2013

Legislation to DISMANTLE the ALR and END its AUTONOMY may be tabled when the BC Legislature reopens February 2014

"British Columbia's 'sacrosanct' Agricultural Land Commission will be effectively dismantled and the B.C. Oil and Gas Commission will assume new responsibilities for land use decisions if a proposal prepared for cabinet is adopted, according to confidential government documents. ... The ALC — long a thorn in the side of developers who want to free up farmland — would move within the Ministry of Agriculture, apparently ending its autonomy from government." —THE GLOBE AND MAIL, NOVEMBER 7, 2013

ONLY 72 HOURS OF FOOD SUPPLY ON VANCOUVER ISLAND!
JOIN THE FEB. 10TH RALLY AND HELP SAVE THE ALR FOREVER!
www.FarmlandProtection.ca

In 1973, the BC government created the Agricultural Land Commission (ALC), an autonomous Board sworn to protect agricultural land in BC from being developed and lost forever as viable farmland. Only 5% of the total land in all of BC was to be held in the Agricultural Land Reserve (ALR) that legally restricts what the land can be used for. Only with approval from the ALC could land be excluded/removed from the ALR.

The BC government has shown a troubling disregard for the integrity of the Agricultural Land Commission

"A rodeo development supported by B.C. Agriculture Minister Pat Pimm that the provincial Agricultural Land Commission rejected as unacceptable use of valuable farm land has gone ahead without ALC approval."

—THE GLOBE AND MAIL, NOVEMBER 13, 2013

"Premier Christy Clark says she will not be asking Pimm to step aside because he was simply advocating on behalf of a constituent when he pledged his support for the rodeo proposal." —CBC, NOVEMBER 14, 2013

Legislation to DISMANTLE the ALR and END its AUTONOMY may be tabled when the BC Legislature reopens February 2014

"British Columbia's 'sacrosanct' Agricultural Land Commission will be effectively dismantled and the B.C. Oil and Gas Commission will assume new responsibilities for land use decisions if a proposal prepared for cabinet is adopted, according to confidential government documents. ... The ALC — long a thorn in the side of developers who want to free up farmland — would move within the Ministry of Agriculture, apparently ending its autonomy from government." —THE GLOBE AND MAIL, NOVEMBER 7, 2013

ONLY 72 HOURS OF FOOD SUPPLY ON VANCOUVER ISLAND!
JOIN THE FEB. 10TH RALLY AND HELP SAVE THE ALR FOREVER!
www.FarmlandProtection.ca

In 1973, the BC government created the Agricultural Land Commission (ALC), an autonomous Board sworn to protect agricultural land in BC from being developed and lost forever as viable farmland. Only 5% of the total land in all of BC was to be held in the Agricultural Land Reserve (ALR) that legally restricts what the land can be used for. Only with approval from the ALC could land be excluded/removed from the ALR.

The BC government has shown a troubling disregard for the integrity of the Agricultural Land Commission

"A rodeo development supported by B.C. Agriculture Minister Pat Pimm that the provincial Agricultural Land Commission rejected as unacceptable use of valuable farm land has gone ahead without ALC approval."

—THE GLOBE AND MAIL, NOVEMBER 13, 2013

"Premier Christy Clark says she will not be asking Pimm to step aside because he was simply advocating on behalf of a constituent when he pledged his support for the rodeo proposal." —CBC, NOVEMBER 14, 2013

Legislation to DISMANTLE the ALR and END its AUTONOMY may be tabled when the BC Legislature reopens February 2014

"British Columbia's 'sacrosanct' Agricultural Land Commission will be effectively dismantled and the B.C. Oil and Gas Commission will assume new responsibilities for land use decisions if a proposal prepared for cabinet is adopted, according to confidential government documents. ... The ALC — long a thorn in the side of developers who want to free up farmland — would move within the Ministry of Agriculture, apparently ending its autonomy from government." —THE GLOBE AND MAIL, NOVEMBER 7, 2013

ONLY 72 HOURS OF FOOD SUPPLY ON VANCOUVER ISLAND!
JOIN THE FEB. 10TH RALLY AND HELP SAVE THE ALR FOREVER!
www.FarmlandProtection.ca